

Injunctive Relief And International Arbitration: A Powerful Tool for Ensuring Fairness

When it comes to resolving international disputes, ensuring fairness and preventing irreparable harm can be a complex task. This is where injunctive relief, a legal remedy that restrains a party from taking certain actions, becomes an invaluable tool in the world of international arbitration. In this article, we delve into the intricacies of injunctive relief in the context of international arbitration and explore its significance in the Lloyd Arbitration Law Library.

The Role of Injunctive Relief in International Arbitration

Injunctive relief, often referred to as interim measures or provisional remedies, plays a crucial role in international arbitration proceedings. It aims to maintain the status quo, prevent irreparable harm, and preserve the effectiveness of the final award. Unlike traditional litigation, where the courts have the authority to grant injunctive relief, international arbitration relies on the discretion of the arbitral tribunal.

Typically, a party seeking injunctive relief in international arbitration must establish that:

1. There is a prima facie case, indicating a likelihood of success on the merits.
2. The harm that would be suffered is irreparable or cannot be adequately compensated by monetary damages.
3. The balance of convenience favors granting the relief.
4. The relief sought is proportionate and compatible with the overall objective of achieving a fair and impartial resolution of the dispute.

These requirements ensure that injunctive relief is only granted under compelling circumstances, safeguarding the integrity and efficiency of the arbitral process.

This book explores from an English law and Institutional perspective the various types of injunctive relief that are available to a party before and during arbitral proceedings.

In particular, this book examines the basis of the power of English Courts to grant such injunctions and explains when such injunctions will be granted. It considers any limitations attached to such injunctions and the relationship between section 44 of the Arbitration Act 1996 and section 37 of the Senior Courts Act 1981.

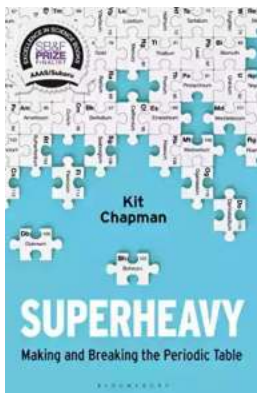

It also provides an in-depth analysis of case law and the emerging trends in this area of arbitration, as well as the powers of arbitrators under the ICC and LCIA Rules to grant such relief and other remedies that might be available to a party seeking to uphold an arbitration agreement.

This book will be a vital reference tool for practitioners, arbitrators and postgraduate students.
