During the exchange program, you will visit renowned aviation institutions such as SAAB, the Swedish pioneer in military aircraft manufacturing, and learn about their innovative aircraft technologies. You will visit airports, air traffic control centers, and maintenance facilities, gaining valuable insights into various aspects of aviation operations.

Expand Your Skills and Knowledge

The IACE Sweden is not just about exploring aviation; it is a holistic experience that focuses on personal development and enhancing leadership skills. Throughout the program, you will participate in workshops, seminars, and practical training sessions that cover a wide range of aviation-related topics. These activities will equip you with the knowledge and skills necessary to thrive in the aviation industry and beyond.

Engage in informative sessions with industry professionals, learn about aircraft maintenance and safety procedures, and participate in thrilling flight simulations. These hands-on experiences will broaden your knowledge and allow you to gain practical insights into the world of aviation.

Cultural Exchange and Life-Long Friendships

Participating in the IACE Sweden is not just about aviation; it is an opportunity to immerse yourself in Swedish culture and foster international friendships. You will have the chance to explore the rich history, architecture, and cuisine that Sweden has to offer.

Through organized cultural activities, such as city tours, visits to museums, and traditional Swedish festivities, you will gain a deeper understanding of Sweden's vibrant heritage. Moreover, you will forge lifelong connections with fellow cadets from diverse backgrounds, creating a global network that extends beyond the program itself.

Application and Eligibility

The International Air Cadet Exchange Sweden is open to air cadets aged 17-21 years old who are passionate about aviation. To be eligible, prospective participants must be affiliated with a recognized air cadet organization or program in their respective countries.

To join the exchange program, interested individuals need to submit a comprehensive application that highlights their passion for aviation and leadership potential. The selection process involves a detailed review of each application to ensure that the program's objectives align with the applicant's aspirations and goals.

The International Air Cadet Exchange is the premier summer activity for Civil Air Patrol Cadets. Each summer, dozens of CAP Cadets, from across the United States, are selected to visit among dozens of countries represented in the Exchange.

For me, the International Air Cadet Exchange was twenty-one days that lasted a lifetime.

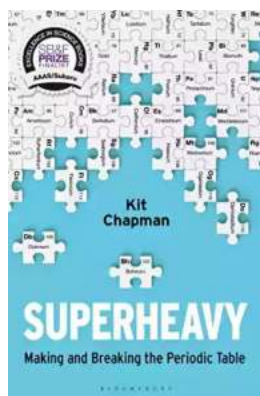

In our three-week trip to Sweden there were nine trips by air, and eleven by bus. We visited eight historical attractions, eight major Swedish companies, and another eight sightseeing excursions of various kinds. We stayed at seven RSAF bases, two private homes, and were guests at fourteen formal banquets, and receptions. Moreover, we had a chance to see another, very special, country, and live a hectic daily schedule with guys from four other countries, and from across the US.
